Pie crust

To make pie crust for common use a quarter of a pound of butter is enough for a half a pound of flour. Take out about a quarter part of the flour you intend to use, and lay it aside. Into the remainder of the flour rub butter thoroughly with your hands, untill it is so short that a handful of it clasped tight will remain in a ball without any tendency to fall to pieces. Then wet it with cold water roll it out on a board rub over the surface with flour stick little lumps of butter all over it sprinkle some flour over the butter and roll ~~it lightly~~ the dough all up flour the paste and flour the rolling-pin and roll it quickly and lightly and so on till you have used your butter. Pie crust should be made as cold cold as possible and set in a ~~cool~~ cool place but be carefut it does not freze—

Do not use more flour than you can help in sprinkling and rolling. The paste should not be rolled out more than three times if rolled too much it will not be flak

Proverbs

How much better is it to get wisdom than gold; and to get understanding rather to be chosen than silver

A brother offended is harder to be won than a strong city: and their contentions are like the bars of a castle

Remove not the ancient land mark, which thy fathers have set

Remove not the old land mark; and enter not into the fields of the fatherless
